

PARIS PHOTO NEW YORK STATEMENT

(NEW YORK, NY – March 3, 2020) – Our thoughts are with those who have been affected by the COVID-19 virus. As we approach the inaugural edition of Paris Photo New York, our number one priority is the well-being of our exhibitors, our international arts community, that of our growing public audience and our staff.

“Our planning closely follows the Centers for Disease Control and Protection (CDC) guidelines and those of local and state public health authorities and we are monitoring closely the US State Department/Federal Government travel rules related to the COVID-19 virus.

The inaugural edition of Paris Photo New York will run as scheduled April 2nd through 5th at Pier 94 in New York City. We take pride in offering vital business opportunities to our customers and are working diligently to ensure the event lives up to our high standards. We are focused on making Paris Photo New York a successful and enjoyable event for all attendees. We are grateful to our exhibitors, visitors and partners for their support and we look forward to seeing them in New York”, said Florence Bourgeois, Reed Exhibitions France, Paris Photo director.

We take the well-being of our customers seriously. We are working closely with the Piers and constantly assessing the situation with the COVID-19 virus. Should it change we will, of course, promptly keep our customers informed of the action to be taken.

We ask that our exhibitors and guests refer to the link on the show website for more information and best practices.
